

Unruly Designs: This Might Be a Studio (Not Sure Yet)

Course Description:

This is collab studio with a twist: your collaborative partner is your instructor. We will co-create the course experience together: shaping materials, testing ideas, and occasionally questioning our life choices as a team. Think of it as a design commonwealth—with just enough structure to keep things from spiraling into art anarchy.

What are we designing? I don't know. But I will invite you to experiment with all kinds of materials—from the familiar to the “wait... is this even allowed?” As you design, responding to things I make for you, we will have a conversation in design form. This course requires you to prioritize process over perfection and the odd over the ordinary.

Curiosity and a sense of humor are highly recommended.
